Welcome to EuSP2024 | GSAC2024

It is my pleasure to invite you to participate at the 3rd European Sample Preparation (EuSP2024) and the 2nd Green and Sustainable Analytical Chemistry (GSAC2024) Conferences, to be held simultaneously in Chania, Crete, Greece, from 15th to 18th September 2024. The events are recognized by EuChemS and are supported by EuChemS-DAC and EuChemS-DAC Sample Preparation Study Group and Network.

EuSP2024 and GSAC2024 follow the success of the virtual events, organized by the EuChemS-DAC Sample Preparation Study Group and Network in 2021 and 2022. The aim of the EuSP and GSAC conference series is to bring together top experts to discuss the latest advancements in the expanding fields of sample preparation and green analytical chemistry. Each program will showcase innovative research, cutting-edge technology, as well as new products and techniques in a broad range of analytical and applied areas in sample preparation and green analytical chemistry. The key theme of the joint events will be “Innovation”, aligning with the 2024 annual theme of EuChemS-DAC Sample Preparation Study Group and Network.

The conferences' venue in the heart of the Venetian port in Chania, surrounded by monuments dating back to 5000 BC, provides the perfect setting for us to interact, collaborate, exchange ideas, and work towards a brighter future. The location is ideal, and we are excited to put together a truly outstanding technically, but also enjoyable, program.

Looking forward to welcoming you to EuSP2024 and GSAC2024,

Professor Eleftheria (Elia) Psillakis

Conference topics

EuSP2024 | GSAC2024 will cover a wide range of topics that relate to recent advances in research and practice. Green Sample Preparation will be a common topic for discussion at EuSP2024 and GSAC2024

For the 3rd European Sample Preparation Conference (EuSP2024), we solicit original contributions in the following topic areas:

- Fundamentals of sample preparation
- New extraction solvents and materials with improved and tailored properties
- New extraction technologies
- Green sample preparation
- Bioanalysis and in-vivo analysis
- Commercial developments and markets
- Microfluidics/Lab-on-a-chip
- New strategies in omics
- Sample preparation for on-site analysis
- Environmental analysis
- Food control and analysis
- Natural products, fragrance analysis
- Forensic analysis
- Biopharmaceuticals
- Industrial applications

For the 2nd Green and Sustainable Analytical Chemistry Conference (GSAC2024), we solicit original contributions in the following topic areas:

- New solvents, materials and modifiers enabling improved and greener processes
- Green chromatography and related techniques
- New technologies to replace existing hazardous ones
- Sensors, on-site and real time analysis
- Direct analytical techniques
- Greenness evaluation
- Miniaturization
- New technologies and techniques that optimize resource efficiency, reduce energy demand and waste generation
- Open-source software and hardware for analysis
- Green sample preparation
- Green Analytical Chemistry applications
- Commercial breakthrough developments
- Green and Sustainable Analytical Chemistry in Education

Venue

The conference venue is “Grand Arsenal” and “Mikis Theodorakis” Theater Hall, two adjacent and iconic buildings, located in the heart of the Venetian port in Chania, surrounded by monuments dating back to 5000 BC. The conference venue provides the perfect setting for us to interact, collaborate, exchange ideas, and work towards a brighter future.

About Chania and Crete

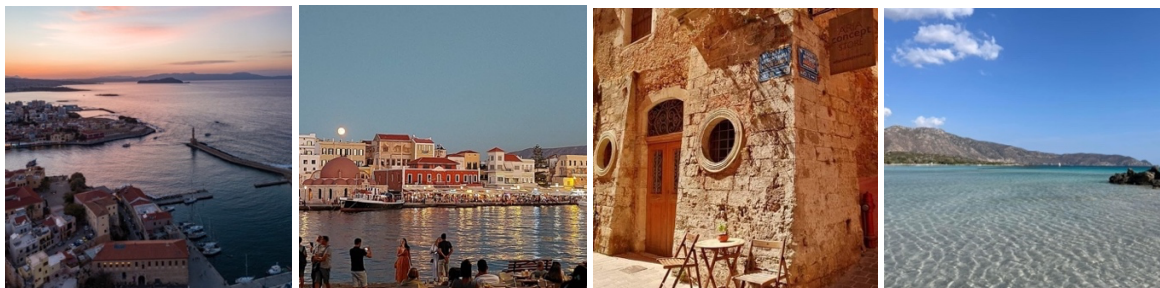

The island of Crete (also seen as Kreta or Kriti) is the most versatile and exciting destination in Greece. The natural beauty and exquisite archaeological sites, the genuine hospitality, the pristine beach with crystal clear waters and the scrumptious and healthy cuisine offers visitors unique experiences.

The city of Chania is the capital of the Prefecture of Chania. Archeological findings state that the city was built over the ruins of the ancient city of Kydonia and indeed Chania is a place where different civilizations have flourished throughout the centuries. The old town was built around the Venetian port and evidence can be seen from each of these civilizations. It's maze-like alleys with its beautiful Venetian mansions, fountains and elaborate churches offer visitors a plethora of routes to discover.

Travel

Chania can be easily reached either by airplane or by ferry. During the summer season (April to early November) several low-cost airlines operating in Chania, offer direct charter flights from across Europe. The airport of Chania also hosts domestic flights to and from the International Airport of Athens and Thessaloniki, which can be used as connecting flights from and to major European gateway cities. Travelers from outside Europe can break up their journey in a European city of their choice or elect to keep connection time to a minimum.

Call for sponsorship

A variety of sponsorship packages are being offered for your organisation's exposure at EuSP2024 | GSAC2024. The Organisers are also happy to tailor packages not currently available in this prospectus and we encourage those with interest in exposure to contact us to discuss what is possible. All listed pricing is inclusive of taxes and in Euro.

The Organizing Committee of the EuSP2024 | GSAC2024 invites you and/or your organization to participate in the Conference as an:

- Platinum Sponsor
- Gold Sponsor
- Exhibitor
- Advertisement Only

Exhibition space will offer opportunities for visibility, sales, and recruitment. Exhibits will be adjacent to the technical sessions. Coffee breaks of the joint events will be in the exhibits area to draw participants. Exhibits will be open for the duration of the technical conference.

If you do not see the sponsorship you are looking for, please email Prof. Elia Psillakis at eusp-gsac2024@tuc.gr to discuss additional options.
